

SPOOKY story

When I was three, Dad brought home some antique figurines and put them on a shelf in the living room.

To my horror, while I was watching TV, they began sticking out their tongues and baring their sharp teeth at me.

I ran to Mum, terrified. 'Those statues are making ugly faces at me!' I cried.

Luckily, she took my concerns seriously and threw them out. But then spirits began to visit me at night.

Mum wasn't surprised when I told her. She was a clairvoyant and explained that I had most likely inherited the gift too.

When I was 10, I was told by my PE teacher to go to the gym to fetch some equipment.

I immediately sensed an evil presence in there, then I saw the spirit of a tall man wearing a top hat and holding a knife.

I ran out, terrified, so a friend came back in with me.

A trolley full of heavy gym equipment suddenly began hurtling towards us – we got out of the way just in time.

'That gym is haunted!' I told the teacher.

'It's just your imagination,' he laughed. I never went in there again.

But it was a near-death experience due to a medical condition at the age of 31 that changed my life forever.

I was put on earth to help people

International psychic, medium and clairvoyant Raymond Guzman, 35, explains how to tell when an angel is near

You're NEVER alone

My heart stopped beating and I crossed over to the other side and back.

After that, I was no longer afraid of dying and my psychic abilities were greatly enhanced.

The minute I realised my true calling was to be a clairvoyant in order to help others, the crippling panic attacks I'd had for years ceased.

It made me wonder if others with panic attacks or anxiety are also simply suppressing their psychic abilities.

I've since helped many people connect with loved ones, including their pets, on the other side.

I've also written books, including one about angels.

Angels are assigned to us at birth and are with us throughout our journey here in the physical world.

'How do you know your angels are around you?' clients often ask me.

One sign is that you see blue speckles of light, or gold, or find a feather in an unexpected place.

Butterflies or birds, particularly doves, may come near. You may see the numbers 222 or 333, or often notice the time at 11:11 or 12:12, or unexpectedly smell floral fragrances.

Another sign is that you may be inexplicably saved in an accident, or somehow avoid being hurt.

If you suddenly feel a comforting warmth on your body, it's literally the touch of an angel.

I can also predict global events.

On September 16 last year, I was sitting in McDonald's when the glass of the windows transformed into a TV screen, showing me a terrifying earthquake devastating Mexico.

The next day this came true, causing 370 deaths and injuring 6000.

Other times, I will sit in a room meditating and see the future like a comic strip. I foresaw Trump becoming president and gay marriage being legalised in Australia.

In the future, I predict mobile phones being replaced by a device that can project images on a wall and life being discovered on nearby planets in our solar system.

In the meantime, I want to help as many people as I can by setting them on the right path, answering questions, or connecting them with loved ones on the other side.

It's what I was put here to do. ●
